Florence, June 22, N. S.

THEY write from Ravenna, that Cardinal Alberoni, the Legate there, had ordered the Marquels Raſponi (for having caſt ſome Reflections on him) to leave that Diſtrict in 24 Hours; which he neglecting to do, and retiring to his Villa about eight Miles from Ravenna, with his Domeſticks, the Cardinal ordered him to be taken into Cuſtody; in endeavouring to execute which Orders, the Bargello and five of his Men were killed on the Spot: The Marqueſs is ſince fled to Venice.

Paris, July 16, N. S. Our laſt Advices from the Army of the Allies in Italy are of the 4th Inſtant, and import, that Count Konigſegg having abandoned all the Places he was poſſeſſed of in that Country, leaving only Garriſons in Mantua and Mirandola, and having retired, with the reſt of the Imperial Forces, to Tyrol; the King of Sardinia, the Marſhal de Noailles, and the Duke de Montemar, had thought fit for the preſent to order their Troops into Quarters of Refreſhment in the Upper and Lower Mantuan: The French, Spaniards, and Piemonteſe being cantoned ſeverally in different Parts of the Country. The King of Sardinia had taken his Head Quarters at St. Martin de Bozolo, the Marſhal de Noailles at Caſtiglion del Strivere, and the Duke de Montemar at San Benedetto; the Marqueſs de Maillebois remaining in the Seraglio with the Body of Reſerve he commands. Our freſheſt Letters from the King's Army commanded by the Marſhal de Coigny, are of the 9th Inſtant, when they continued on this Side of the Rhine, as did Prince Eugene with the Imperialiſts on the other, without ſeeming determined yet on either ſide upon any great Enterprize.
